

MAY TRY OTHERS LONG INDICTED IN SLOCUM CASE

Confirmation of Capt. Van Shaick's Conviction Is First Step.

PARDON IS LAST HOPE.

Aged Commander Has Nine Days Before Being Sent to Prison.

Capt. William H. Van Schaick, who commanded the excursion steamer Gen. Slocum and whose sentence of ten years' imprisonment has been confirmed by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, will have nine days more of liberty. The mandate for his commitment will be handed down Feb. 22, and upon its arrival Judge Dittenhofer the captain's counsel, will be called upon to surrender him to Marshal Hapken in the Federal Building. The trip to Sing Sing will then be made at once.

When asked to-day about the other indictments which have been lying pigeon-holed since 1905—indictments against officers of the Knickerbocker Transportation Company, which owned the Slocum, District Attorney Stinson said:

"These indictments have never been moved for trial, but I shall take them up shortly and have something to say about them."

Neglect Was Appalling.

"This decision," continued the District Attorney, "is the most important that has come to this office since I have been here, and the conviction of Capt. Van Schaick reflected great credit on my predecessor, Gen. Burnett. I have not felt any sympathy for the old captain, for in my experience—and I am familiar with the case, as I argued it on the appeal—I never found a case of more appalling neglect. The testimony of the captain showed that every requisition he made on the owners for supplies and repairs was always filled without comment. He was not expected to make for the existence of poor hose and life appliances on the boat."

"Gen. Burnett tried to get a conviction against the Government Inspector, Lundberg. There were three mistrials. The prosecution could not prove to the jury that Lundberg, who was a new man, was responsible for duties which had never been properly explained to him by his superiors in office. That was the snag, as I recall it."

"The trial of Capt. Van Schaick was next taken up. He was entrusted with the duty of seeing that his boat was safe and his crew trained in the fire drill. The fact that he directed his vessel against a strong breeze and made no effort to make a nearer landing than North Brother's island was not regarded as a criminal act. That was simply poor judgment."

Law Was Defective.

"All the structural equipment on the Slocum was in good condition—the pumps and that sort of thing. The owner was responsible for this, but the bad hose and lack of discipline were the fault of Capt. Van Schaick."

"The indictments against Barnaby and others who were officers of the corporation that owned the Slocum, accused them of aiding and abetting the captain."

"The law in effect in 1906 was defective. It did not permit the punishment of a corporation. A corporation owned the Slocum, hence as owners of the boat they could not be punished. The law, since then, has been amended."

"A writ of certiorari may be asked for in this case at the time of the appeal, but it is a doubtful thing."

Captain Hopes for Pardon.

Meanwhile the old captain is in the depths of despair. His only real hope is in some action on the part of President Roosevelt. He has the power either to commute the sentence or pardon the old man outright.

Mrs. Van Schaick, the captain's wife, was Miss Grace M. Schuchman, and for several years, having been burned. The couple had planned to spend the remainder of their lives at Atlantic City, near Atlantic City, N. J.

When the news reached them last night, she tried to shoot and the bright side of it.

"The President won't let you suffer," William, said, encouragingly. "He'll pardon you. I'm sure, or the wise Supreme Court will see the justice of your side and let you go."

"The people know what I think of the verdict against me," said Capt. Van Schaick. "I don't think it is other than unjust. But I have no fault to find with the judges. If they cannot see the case as I see it, they are helped."

"I have not yet heard from my attorneys, and until I do cannot tell what steps will be taken. If there is no help for it, I suppose I shall have to go to prison. And if I do, I shall try to suffer my imprisonment with courage—although."

The count upon which Capt. Van Schaick was found guilty was that he had not had fire drills for his crew previous to the burning of the steamer in East River in 1904. He was convicted and sentenced on Jan. 27, 1906.

ITALIAN VILLA NOW FOR COMEDIAN EDDIE FOY.

(Special to The Evening World.)
WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Feb. 12.—Comedian Eddie Foy has bought a country seat adjoining the Knickerbocker Country Club grounds on the outskirts of White Plains. His purchase is a twenty-two-acre house and nine acres of land overlooking the golf links. The $250,000 estate, which Foy, who sold him the place, says is a "very fine" villa on the grounds in a short time and to lay out private golf links, and his professional friends can play.

"The One Girl," the song hit of "The Top of the World" musical comedy, now playing at the Broadway Theatre, will be given in the Magazine Section of the Sunday's World. Edition limited. Order from newsdealer to-day.

Try Our "Perfection" Chocolates This Week at 39c a lb. instead of 59c

We want to add to the army of sweet tooth folks who have found our "Perfection" Chocolates all that the name implies—found them equal to any they ever bought at 80c a pound. So for the end of week special, we make the price—39c. lb.—inducement a-plenty for recruits to the army. Favors and Decorations for Washington's Birthday are ready.

"Community"—The Final Word About Plated Silverware.

THE makers of "Community" Silverware are faddists on the subject of Quality. They have built a permanent business on a Good Quality foundation.

The plate on their Silver Table Wares is more than triple plate—they call it "triple plus." In durability it ranks next to genuine sterling silver. They guarantee it to wear 25 years. The patterns are particularly neat. To-day we tell of their "Classic" pattern. You have never seen a prettier pattern in sterling silver at several times the cost of "Community" plated ware—
